The fund underperformed for the month due to a lack of exposure to energy and basic materials such as oil majors and steel mills which rallied in the wider market. Some higher valued positions lost ground such as Givaudan, Bravida and SGS. Bright spots included Grifols which advanced after reporting solid growth and recovering plasma collections. Stabilus jumped 16% after releasing good results and on likely rising content growth as car-makers focus on making more premium cars. STMicroelectronics made progress after a positive investor day setting out ambitious mid-term targets driven by strong adoption of microchips in automotive and industrial applications. In terms of transactions, we trimmed Grifols and Givaudan and topped up Nordea. We disposed of our residual position in GN Store Nord after a bounce.
