The CRUX Asia ex-Japan fund underperformed the MSCI Asia ex-Japan index this month. The main positive contributors to fund performance were Healthcare, Energy, and the Utility sectors, the later where we have an underweight position. Chinese Healthcare data services provider Yidu Tech, Chinese specialty store retailer Miniso, and Chinese specialty tea store operator Nayuki were our top contributors. We also benefitted from not owning the large internet benchmark names such as Tencent and Alibaba. The main negative contributors came from the Consumer Discretionary, Materials, and Financials sectors. Chinese on-demand delivery company Dada Nexus, Chinese financial services provider Lufax, and Chinese short video platform company Kuaishou Technology were the main detractors. Over the month, we reduced our exposure to the Materials sector, and increased our weighting in Consumer Discretionary and Healthcare names.
