European equities lost some ground in August, having been range-bound since February. Against this background the Crux European Special Situations Fund lost 1.4%, compared to its IA peer group which fell 2.4%. The fund outperformed due to being underweight in consumer discretionary and cyclicals which lost ground in the wider market. Bright spots included Novo Nordisk which jumped 17% after showing that its weight-loss drug Wegovy also has cardiovascular benefits which should boost governments' enthusiasm in funding and prescribing the drug. New positions ASML and CapGemini both rose at month-end along with the broader technology sector. Brenntag's share price made ground probably pushed by Kuhne Holding boosting its stake to 10% as activists continue to seek a break-up, and we sold our holding. Smurfit advanced as it stated that customer destocking is ending and we disposed of the position. TotalEnergies gained with the oil price. Performance was held back by micro-chip makers Infineon and STMicro and these were both disposed amongst other changes.
